BOWLS LAW: It is a windy day and Team A is holding shot in a tight head when a hat blows from the adjoining green. Everyone turns to see where the hat came from. When it is picked up it is noticed that the jack has moved, and Team B is now holding shot. What happens?

Answer: Under Law 38.3.3 (jack moved by a neutral object) the jack is replaced to its original position. If the skips cannot agree on where that is the end is dead.
