BOWLS LAW: The Third of Team A has played his bowl and it has come to rest. His skipper is in the head doing the 'crossed finger thing' to decide if he now has the shot when the next bowl from Team B hits his foot. What happens? Under Law 37.1.1.3 The skipper of Team B has three choices a) leave the bowl where it is, b) place it where he thought it was going to end up or c) have the bowl replayed. The skip of Team A has no input to his opponents decision.
